News: It has been a busy start to the second half of the autumn term. In assemblies this week, we have been learning about Armistice, the origins of Remembrance Day and the symbolism of the poppy. The children made insightful comments during our discussions, as we looked at books, poems and at different war memorials, including the one pictured here, which is in Hungary.

Children in Reception and Year 1 have all received a free book from the BookTrust, to take home a keep, as part of our efforts to inspire an early love of books, stories and reading. Across the school, we have been remembering the Gun Powder Plot and learning about the origins of Bonfire Night. Thank you to everyone who has already completed the OfSTED Parent Questionnaire. We really do appreciate you taking the time to do this and Governors will be looking the results at their next meeting. The link if you haven’t already taken part is below. Next Friday, we will all be wearing our pyjamas (no slippers please!) for a £1 donation for Children In Need.
