News: In assembly, following the unveiling of the Windrush Statue at Waterloo Station last week, we read the book Coming to England by Baroness Floella Benjamin OBE. Children thoughtfully discussed how it might feel to move to a new country, far from home, where you may not be made to feel very welcome. The new Reception children had a lovely time taking part in lots of exciting activities when they visited “Big School” for the second time this week. They were so excited to take their Welcome Packs home with their free book, phonics packs and soft toy to look after over the summer. Looking back over Pride Month, we have shared a variety of books and stories to celebrate individuality and introduce the children to a diverse range of different families, as part of our Personal, Social, Health and Relationships Education curriculum. Next weekend we are all looking forward to the School Association Summer Fete where there will be lots of fun to be had, with traditional fete games and activities.
